PRESENTING PEARL VIRTUAL LEARNING
PROGRAM

Why is Virtual Learning important?

- ▶ Children go through a period of rapid learning in the first ten years . In fact 90% of the brain growth happens during the first five years of a child's life. The most embedded parts of their personality- their attitude and moral values , their emotional tendencies, their learning abilities, how they deal with people and situations are all a product of experiences that they learn during these formative years.
- ▶ For very young learners in pre-primary years, it has been shown that interactions guided by early childhood educators is critical based by research and child developmental milestones and it is necessary that this continues in some form for all children in spite of the lockdown and till physical preschools re-open. To ensure that 'LEARNING NEVER STOPS AT LITTLE PEARLS' we present you the following:

Why is Virtual Learning important?

- ▶ Given the current pandemic crisis, we are uncertain about the timeline of re-opening of preschools, which means that children will lose out on connection and engagement with teachers. Hence the dedicated and sincere staff at Little Pearls ensure that there is a “serve and return” interaction through live engagement platforms.
- ▶ The World Health Organization has recommended that children from 2-5 years of age can spend up to one hour in front of the screen each day. The children may constitute 20% of our population today but they are our future citizens and leaders.
- ▶ At this age, the brain is making new connections that will one day become the blueprint for life
